

QUALIZEAL

»» TOP 5 ««

Quality engineering statistics for the next decade

Looking to stay ahead of the curve in Quality Engineering? Check out these top 5 statistics for the next decade:

By 2025, the global QA outsourcing market is predicted to reach $17.4 billion.

This shows the growing trend of companies outsourcing QA activities to focus on core competencies.

(Source: Statista)

Automation will account for 85% of testing activities by 2025.

Automation is essential to improve testing efficiency, save time and costs, and enhance software quality.

(Source: World Quality Report 2020-2021)

DevOps adoption is expected to rise to 50% by 2023.

This reflects the need for a collaborative culture to streamline software development and deployment processes.

(Source: Gartner)

AI-based testing will grow by 25% annually through 2025.

AI is revolutionizing testing by reducing time and effort and increasing accuracy and efficiency.

(Source: ResearchAndMarkets.com)

Security testing is set to grow at a rate of 14.9% CAGR through 2025.

Security testing is crucial to prevent cyber threats and ensure software reliability.

(Source: MarketsandMarkets)

Stay ahead of the game by staying on top of these Quality Engineering trends.

Visit Now !

Qualizeal.com/insights/tech-bites/